

Paperfuel Cartoon girl in passe-partout

Drawing cartoon girls has never been so fun and easy. With these step-by-step instructions anyone can draw just like Karin Luttenberg, the designer of the fun brand Paperfuel. Getting the hang of it? Expand your collection of drawing materials with separate. Paperfuel products or go for the complete set 'Cartoon girls XL'.

1

Cut a sheet of paper from the portrait paper block to 11 x 17 cm.

2

Slide this paper into the black rectangular passe-partout.

3

For the head of the cartoon girl, first draw a circle and then a curved horizontal and vertical guide line.

4

Draw the eyes on the horizontal line and the mouth and nose in the lower part of the vertical line.

5

Draw the ears slightly below the horizontal guideline. The hairline is drawn just below the top of the skull and a little above. Draw the little buns on the left and right.

6

For the body, first draw a rectangle, then the arms like a matchstick. Next, add volume to the drawing by widening the lines.

7

Trace the drawing using the Edding 0.5 mm fineliner. Let it dry for a little while before you erase the pencil lines.

8

Use the Edding 0.7 mm fineliner to colour in the hair. Do not colour all of the hair to create highlights. Finally, colour the mouth and leave a little white for the teeth.

