Lots of Christmas Labels in No Time

Start early with crafting for Christmas and create a stock of gift tags! Get creative with cardstock, watercolour paint and stamps, and decorate your Christmas gifts with personal handmade gift tags and holiday labels.

1

Take some thin (200 gsm) watercolour paper and punch as many labels as you want.

2

Then punch a hole in each label with the circle hand punch.

3

Paint the labels with watercolours. Start with green at the bottom and let it bleed over to blue at the top. The mixed media work mat is an ideal surface to do this on. Easy to clean in no time with this water-resistant silicone mat.

4

Once the paint has dried use the stamp set and stamp your desired snail mail print with brown or copper colour on each label.

5

Tie a piece of string to your label so you can easily attach them to something later.

6

Watercolour a piece of watercolour paper with yellow paint. After drying, punch out small stars. Stick these here and there on your labels. Feel free to punch some more, you can use the paper stars later to decorate your wrapped gift.
