

Christmas card with gift design

Make your own DIY Christmas card with a creative gift box design. Using glitter paper, embossing and twine, this handmade Christmas card is the perfect project for adding festive cheer to your crafts.

Place a sheet of white cardstock in the embossing folder with the text 'Jingle Bells' and run it through the embossing machine.

Cut the embossed cardstock to 5.7 x 5.7 inches (14.5 x 14.5 cm). Take a sheet of red glitter paper and cut it to 6 x 6 inches (15 x 15 cm).

Take a blank double card of 6.1 x 6.1 inches (15.5 x 15.5 cm). First glue the glitter paper onto it, then the embossed cardstock.

Use the embossing folder with graphic stars, place another sheet of white cardstock in it and run through the embossing machine.

Cut several squares and rectangles from the pattern, for example 1.4 x 1.4 inches (3.5 x 3.5 cm) or 1.4 x 1.8 inches (3.5 x 4.5 cm), as long as the pattern is nicely cut out.

Take the red glitter paper again and cut squares that are exactly half a centimetre larger than the white embossed squares. For example, 4 x 4 cm.

Glue the white embossed squares and rectangles onto the red glitter ones. Turn them into presents by tying little bows with red and white baker's twine.

Now stick the presents onto the card. To add dimension, use one or more layers of foam tape.
