

Bee crafting: make a cheerful paper bee

Looking for a fun idea to craft your own bee? In this easy DIY, you will make a cheerful paper bee with simple materials and a playful result. It is a lovely spring craft for children and adults and perfect for a creative afternoon at home, at school or together at the table.

1 Punch out all the shapes for the bee.

2 Cut the flower shape so that you are left with two separate sets of wings. Cut narrow strips from the black shape for the stripes on the bee's body.

3 Glue all the parts together to create the bee. Glue the wings behind the body, then attach the black stripes.

4 Draw a cheerful face using a black and red fineliner. Finish the wings with white details using a gel pen.

5 Cut two more thin strips of black paper and curl them using a piercing tool.

6 Glue the curled strips onto the bee's head as antennae.
