Detailed Report:

On 16th July 2025, the ACM Student Chapter of DBIT organized its annual Orientation Program for the newly inducted Second Year Engineering (S.E.) students. The event began at 11:00 a.m. in Fr. Mondini Hall with a prayer service led by Fr. Nelson Carvalho, setting a graceful tone for the program.

Following this, the faculty of the Computer Department was introduced, and Prof. Dipti Jadhav, Head of the Department, addressed the students. She highlighted the achievements of the department and emphasized the continuous support extended to student-led initiatives like ACM.

The main segment of the event began with the announcement of the ACM Core Team for the academic year 2025–26, wherein each newly appointed member received an official appointment letter.

Mr. Joshua Almeida (Technical Head) and Ms. Verushka Fernandes (Secretary) then took the stage to introduce the ACM Student Chapter. They provided a comprehensive overview of ACM's mission, structure, and flagship events – including Teknack, the annual Game Development competition. Upcoming workshops and plans for the semester were also shared.

To maintain an engaging atmosphere, interactive team games such as Mystery Musical Chair and a viral reel recreation challenge were held, which were met with great enthusiasm.

Later, Mr. Andre Fernandes, Advisor to ACM-DBIT, spoke about the benefits of ACM membership, elaborating on global access, technical resources, and the early bird offers available for membership enrollment.

One of the highlights of the session was the hunt for the ACM Golden Ticket, which energized the hall with excitement and teamwork. Additionally, spot prizes were distributed during quick games, including Pictionary, "Find the Bug," and "Guess the Place."

The event concluded around 1:00 p.m., with students showing visible enthusiasm and curiosity toward ACM and its offerings. The orientation successfully set the stage for active participation and innovation in the upcoming year.
